CCI's New Suppressor Max 22 LR Loads Now Shipping

LEWISTON, Idaho – April 16, 2025 – CCI Ammunition is proud to announce all-new Suppressor Max 22 LR. This small game load is specifically designed for optimal accuracy, terminal performance, and noise reduction when fired through rimfire suppressors. The hollow-point bullet ensures effective segmentation on impact—even at its low-decibel, subsonic 970 feet per second muzzle velocity. This new product is currently being delivered to retailers nationwide.

Suppressor Max, 22 LR, 45 Grain, Segmented Hollow Point

“Whisper-quiet yet powerful rimfire performance is now within reach,” said CCI’s Rimfire Product Line Manager Steve Monniere. “CCI Suppressor Max delivers excellent accuracy, and our proven segmenting hollow-point bullet also provides exceptional terminal performance. More and more shooters and hunters are opting for suppressed firearms, and they will all love this new 45-grain 22 LR option.

Features include loaded to a 970-fps subsonic velocity for ultra-quiet performance, designed for maximum effectiveness on target out of a suppressed rifle or pistol, 45-grain segmenting hollow-point bullet that is safe to shoot through all suppressors, customized hollow-point bullet segments reliably at low velocity, unlike conventional suppressor rounds, and it cycles in all semi-automatics. It is available in 100-count packaging.
