Federal's New Punch Jacketed Hollow Point 9mm Luger, 115 Grain, Now Shipping

ANOKA, Minnesota – April 7, 2026 – Federal Ammunition is currently shipping the new Personal Defense Punch, 9mm Luger, 115-grain load. It features a high-quality brass case with a primer seal and balanced performance across different platforms and through the most common barriers. The new lighter load rounds out Punch's popular product line.

Personal Defense Punch

Punch draws from Federal's decades of experience designing the world's finest defensive handgun loads. This new Punch 115-grain Jacketed Hollow Point load is the result of many customer requests, specifically from those who like to train with 115-grain options, such as Federal Champion Training or Federal American Eagle Full Metal Jacketed (FMJ) 115-grain loads.

The bullets for each Punch offering are carefully selected and engineered to optimize the caliber's terminal performance for the most common situations. Its quality brass and sealed primer deliver reliable feeding and ignition.
